Message From The President

It's time for Mary Aldinger and myself to say goodbye, our terms are up. Your newly elected board members are listed in this Newsletter, please come and meet them at the July 16th Membership Meeting. They have some great ideas for the future of the CCAG and will need your continued support to be a success. As President I want to say how much I enjoyed serving all of you and thank you. More importantly we need to say thank you to Mary Aldinger for her service to the guild as Secretary and Treasurer. She did a fantastic job and deserves to be praised and thanked. She not only held the position of Secretary and Treasurer, but also put together the newsletter, member roster, found guest speakers and took the meeting minutes at each board meeting. Those members who don't have e-mail she made sure they got a mailed copy of the newsletter. She did so much more for the guild and we will all miss her very much, thank you Mary for an outstanding job. I don't want to forget our remaining board members who also have done a great job, thank you so much.

President, Lisl Harper

The show has now ended and many visitors were able to enjoy the artwork. One piece was sold. Special Thanks to Dennis Watts and Jamie Schab for their assistance.

UPCOMING SHOWS:

Clark County Library Show, July 29 – September 21, 2014

Bring the accepted artwork on July 28 to the Flamingo Library at 1401 E. Flamingo

The time is 10:30 -12:00 pm in the front lobby (at the seemingly back of the library), I was told by the assistant that the side street was easier from "B" Street. The D rings are 2" down from the top. (framed or gallery wrapped as well) all sizes the same with the rings.

Metal frames need a hanger that fits in the back rails/slots along the sides; the frames usually are a put together type and have the hardware with them.(separate pieces) You can put them together, they are easy; you need the plex precut IE Art stores(look for coupons) or Home Depot or Lowes.*

Work on paper must all have a mat and a backing. Cardboard really isn't what you want to use as it leaches out. Artist tape is the best to put on the mat to hold the painting to the mat. All work larger than 16x20 needs plexiglass. Remember, this is for paper entries. Oil and acrylics down really need covering. Nothing smaller than 16x20 (11x14 pix size) Put a short bio on the back for your buyers; Also, upper right hand corner, you can put the certificate of authenticity.

As of this moment we have 19 artists. I believe the lobby space has room enough for 25 maybe 30, depending on the sizes. You can rewrite your certificates if you choose of course. This is just a guideline and should add to our credibility as a guild. Questions? Email me jansigns3@gmail.com
